ESTATE PLANNING REDEFINED

(562)494-2828

The impact of COVID-19 in our daily lives is everywhere. As an Estate Planning attorney, I can say that our message has become more real with this pandemic.

When it comes to Estate Planning: We work diligently at impressing our clients:

Tomorrow is Today/Mañana Es Hoy.

The economy was doing well, the stock market was rising high, and life was comfortable. Then overnight, everything changed when the pandemic struck.

We always think that we have ample time to get our affairs in order, in reality sometimes we do not have the luxury of procrastinating and postponing planning for tomorrow, as havoc can strike unexpectedly. The COVID-19 pandemic reminds us of the uncertainty of life, we can get sick, hurt in an accident or die unexpectedly, with little or no warning.

The current crisis reminds us that having our Estate Plan in place is important. Now if you become disabled there's often no time to act – and certainly the same applies if we die unexpectedly.

That is why Tomorrow is Today/Mañana Es Hoy.

During this difficult time, I have cut back on my office hours and will be providing virtual consultations via Skype or FaceTime. My Skype address is laura@ClaveranLaw.com; my cell is 562-896-0150.

For the next month, I am also offering a complimentary consultation of 30 minutes and Estate Planning review of existing documents.

I wish health, blessings and patience to everyone.
